 $135 00—paid in cash ; the remainder,
 $117 52 by a new note to J. C. Plummer.

The undersigned respectfully call the attention of the tax payers of Epping to the principal cause of the present indebtedness of the town. By most of you it is a well known fact that six or seven years since, a certain old lady who resided part of the time in Epping, and part of the time in Stratham, was taxed two years in Epping, which tax she neglected and refused to pay. The selectmen directed the collectors to arrest her for those taxes, which they did and put her in jail. Four or five suits grew out of it, and after a fierce contest of five or six years two of said suits were decided against the town, and two executions followed, which were paid, amounting, with costs, to $519 24; two executions came out in favor of the town. But the old lady has fortified herself in her castle, and bids defiance.

We hope it will not do any serious harm in calling to mind one other fact. You probably remember that the town a few years since sent three of our most respectable townsmen to Concord, to be present during the sitting of the Legislature, instructed by their constituents to use their influence in behalf of the town to get the Courts for the County of Rockingham held a part of the time in Epping. The selectmen in the settlement with these gentlemen for their services and expenses, aforesaid, a dispute arose between them and one of these gentlemen in regard to his account; from which a suit arose, and after a contest of three or four years an execution came out against the town, amounting to $130 61.

The selectmen of last year, upon examination of the books and vouchers in their possession belonging to the town, found only about $170 00 paid for attorneys, attending to no less than seven law suits. At the same time it was the common report that at least four lawyers had been employed in litigating these suits. Although former boards of selectmen had made no disclosure that any outstanding claims of that nature was to be met. In the face of all this the selectmen of last year came to the conclusion that there must have been some amount of indebtedness of the town which had not been reported, therefore, towards the close of last year they called upon those attorneys to present their bills, with the dates and items in their accounts, but did not ascertain the amount of their claims until after last year's Report, since which time their accounts have been presented, and paid, which you will see by our general account amounts to $490 25.

Fellow citizens, you will see by figures which must exhibit to you the truth, so far as they go, to show that it has cost the town in two items with regard to the suits that have been so unfortunately inflicted upon us to the amount of $1309 00. Add to this the sum that must necessarily have been paid to selectmen as agents in conducting those suits, and their witnesses, and the whole costs cannot fall much short of $1800 00.
